UNCONTESTED CHANGE OF CUSTODY

A change of custody is allowed when the parent(s) can prove that there are substantial changes affecting the welfare and best interest of the child(ren). Parents can enter into an agreement regarding custody, subject to the court's approval. The parental agreement will be effective unless the Judge decides that the proposed change is not in the best interest of the child(ren). The parents' agreement can be made a final order of modification by the trial court at any time after the agreement has been submitted to the court.

When a parent sues the other parent to change custody, the court has the power to award sole custody, joint custody, joint legal custody, or joint physical custody. Additionally, the court may award custody to a third person when both parents are proved to be unfit. The Judge has the power to order a psychological evaluation of the family, an independent medical evaluation, or an investigation by the local family and children services agency.

A complaint for change of custody brought by the non-custodial parent must be filed in the county in which the legal custodian of the child or children resides. A complaint for change of custody brought by the legal custodian must be filed in the county in which the Defendant resides.

A Judge may consider the desire of a child who is at least seven (7) years of age, but not yet fourteen (14). However, the child's desire by itself is not a material change of conditions or circumstances. The wishes of a child aged fourteen (14) or older is controlling unless the parent whom the child chooses is found to be unfit. During a custody hearing, the trial court may order the parents to leave the courtroom when a child testifies.
